TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The following special cable dispatch from London, appears in this morning's Globe:—A deputation from the Royal Agricultural Society will see the president of the Board of Agriculture and urge more strongly the slaughter of all Canadian cattle on arrival. Though the board is most anxious to give Canada the benefit of any doubt outside opinion urgently demands action.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Government has issued an order prohibiting the importation of live Canadian cattle.

MONTREAL, Nov. 4.—A Star special cable says:—

LONDON, Nov 4.—The worst fears of the friends of the important Canadian cattle trade have been realized and Canadian cattle have been scheduled. In other words the privilege allowed to Canadian cattle of being permitted to land and to graze on British pastures has been cancelled. In future Canadian cattle immediately on arrival will be slaughtered in the lairs at the seaports, as are all the cattle imported into Britain from the United States and other countries.

Fine Fun for the Lawyers.

OTTAWA, Nov. 4.—In the Supreme Court to-day the appeal of the lumbermen of the Chaudiere against the judgment of the Ontario courts in the case of Ratte, a boatman here, who sued the mill owners for damage to his business through deposits of sawdust in the Ottawa River, was argued. Ratte carried the case in the first instance through all the courts of Canada, and got judgment. The mill owners appealed to the Privy Council and the latter gave judgment to recover. The case came up again, the Chancery Court giving Ratte $3600 damages. Against this another appeal was carried to the Supreme Court and argued today. Judgment was reserved.

Quebec Bye-Elections.

QUEBEC, Nov. 4.—Two elections for the Legislature were held yesterday. In Three Rivers Mr. Normand, ex-M.P.P., and mayor of Three Rivers, was elected over R. S. Cooke. Both ran as supporters of the Government, Mr. Normand being favored by Mr. Taillon and most of the Conservative members of the House, while Mr. Cooke was aided by Mr. Pelletier and the Castor wing. In Matane the election resulted in favor of Mr. Boulay, Conservative, and Perrault, Liberal.

Death of a Legislator.

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—Mr. N. Gordon Bigelow, M.P.P. for Toronto, died this morning. He was elected last winter in succession to Mr. H. E. Clarke, who died while making a speech in the Legislative Assembly. Mr. Bigelow was a prominent barrister, a strong Liberal, and a popular man. His election in succession to a Conservative in Toronto caused much surprise among politicians.

Charged With Malpractice.

Large feels his position keenly and protests his innocence. He is 21 years of age, is in the fourth year of his college course, and is reported to be a clever and rising student.

Malfeasance in Office.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Edward L. J. Dwyer, superintendent of the water department and Francis J. Brokaski, chief clerk, both Republicans were suspended by Mayor Washburn for malfeasance in office. It is charged that the city has been defrauded out of many thousands of dollars through rebates to favored individuals. The chief clerk of the water department has made alterations in the books and manipulated certain accounts to the detriment of the city. In certain cases persons were required to pay less than one half the amount charged to them on the books, and then the figures on the books were changed to correspond. The alleged improper reductions were without authority, and in direct violation of the ordinance and regulations of the office. The mayor has ordered a thorough investigation.

Converted to Democracy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Mr. Seth Low, president of Columbia College said yesterday to a reporter of the United Press that he had decided to vote for Mr. Cleveland. Mr. Low has been one of the best known Republicans in the state. Mr. Low was asked last night if he would give his reasons for deciding to vote for the Democratic candidates. He said that he did not care to make any public statement of his reasons for this decision. "The report is true," said Mr. Low, "I intend to vote for Mr. Cleveland, but I do not care to give out any statement in regard to the matter." When asked if his decision was a recent one, Mr. Low replied, "It is quite recent."

Illuminating a Cemetery.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 4.—For two days and nights past, the cemetery of the Most Holy Redeemer has been the scene of a most unique illumination. The cemetery is used by the big congregations of St. Michael's and St. James's Catholic churches, who have celebrated All Souls' day dressing the graves and placing on each one of them a lighted candle during the night. The pale glow of the candles have given the graveyard a weird appearance. The celebration is a revival of the old custom that prevailed in some Roman Catholic cities, of praying for the liberation of souls from purgatory.

CONFUSION WORSE CONFOUNDED

Vancouver's Aldermen Have Prepared a Pretty Kettle of Fish.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 4.—Two Italians named Geo. Barney and Lewis James, living on Harris street, got into a fight last night, when clubs, knives and probably a hatchet were used. James is now in the hospital, not expected to recover, and Barney is under arrest, but suffers from five knife wounds.

Owing to the non-arrival of the Islander, the Chief Justice will go to Nanaimo and to Victoria in the morning. The Royal Commission inspected the steamer Empress of Japan this morning.

The city council last night passed two bonus by-laws in favor of the Fraser Valley Railway through the preliminary stages and they are to be submitted to the electors on Dec. 10th. One on the voters' list prepared before the general reduction of the assessment, and the other on the lists after, only one to take effect. The railway company agrees to bear the cost of submitting the by-laws, and any litigation that may follow. Though the object is to prevent litigation the whole business to the ordinary citizen looks like confusion worse confounded. The present muddle will go far towards retiring every one of the present aldermen seeking re-election.

The Islander arrived at 2:30 and will leave at five for Victoria. The Royal Commissioners will return to Victoria by her.

C. Kolling of Australia is here looking into the possibilities of a steamship line between Canada and Australia. He affirms that four days could be saved in the mail route to England, and in that case Australia would grant a liberal subsidy and Hawaii would welcome communication with Canada.

IN A DEMON'S POWER.

Devilish Cruelties Perpetrated on a Dying Girl by a Quack.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—A horrible case of torture came to light yesterday. For four months Mary A. Kohacke, 17 years old, of 94 Flint street, has been an invalid from dropsical consumption. Her father works in a furniture factory. Dr. Oebichlager, the family physician, declared the case hopeless, but on Tuesday last, Gustave Hoyer, a quack horse-doctor and liniment pedler, put in an appearance and said he could cure the girl, and the parents consented to the treatment.

He brought a peck of timothy hay seed, which he put into a tub and steeped in boiling water. He set a small chair in the water and stripped the girl's legs naked, and placed them over the water and covered them with heavy blankets. The hot steam burnt her and she began screaming. The mother and younger sister tried to get her away, but the horse-quack stood guard and forced her to endure the torture for half-an hour.

Her screams at length alarmed the neighbors, and an excited crowd gathered, but the quack would brook no interference. Taking her from her torture of hot steam, the quack laid her on a bed. The skin hung from the legs in twisted strings. He bound the legs in linen bandages, drawing the roll as tightly as he could then he took a pint bottle of horse liniment and saturated the bandages. At this the girl's screams became terrific, but Hoyer ordered that she lie in bed with the bandages on for three hours at the end of which time she would be well. The girl screamed until the mother could endure it no longer, and removed the bandages after they had been on an hour. The strong liniment had completed what the hot steam began, and the legs resembled great masses of half boiled meat. For 25 hours the girl lay and moaned, until morning, when she died in great anguish. The father is almost frantic and declares he will kill Hoyer, for whom a warrant will be issued, charging him with manslaughter and for practicing without a license.

MRS. DEACON'S STRATAGEM

In Defiance of the French Courts She Gets Possession of Her Eldest Child.

H.M.S. Howe a Total Loss—Burning of the British Bark Norcross on the Seine.

Mrs. Leader Wins Her Case Against the Smyths—Spanish Officials Dismissed.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—Another sensation has developed in the Deacon case. As soon as the Tribunal of the Seine delivered its decision dismissing Mrs. Deacon's suit for divorce and ordering that the eldest child, then in a convent, be delivered up to Deacon, Mrs. Deacon hastened to the convent of Notre Dame d'Assomption, in the department of marine, bent upon carrying off the child and thus both defying the authority of the Freuce court and baffling Deacon. The sympathies of the nuns of the convent and of the people of the neighborhood have been with Mrs. Deacon. When she arrived the news of the Court's decision was unknown at the convent and Mrs. Deacon was admitted as usual. Mrs. Deacon had a carriage at the gate. She asked, and received leave to take the elder of the children for a ride, and after kissing the younger one tenderly, she walked with the former to the carriage. At first she drove steadily but increased her speed as the convent and adjoining group of houses disappeared from view. Deacon drove up to the convent shortly after his wife had gone. He was dazed and maddened when he learned the situation and the strategy of Mrs. Deacon. Deacon at once appealed to the police who readily joined him in attempting to overtake his wife. It seems impossible that she can escape from France, as the police everywhere have been warned to be on the lookout and to apprehend her and her child wherever found. Deacon is determined to get possession of the child.

Burning of the Norcross.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The British bark Norcross which left Philadelphia on October 2nd for Rouen, France, with a load of petroleum, has been burned in the Seine, with a loss of certainly three and probably 10 lives. Captain Roop, who was in command of the Norcross, had his wife on board, and both were saved. The crew who escaped the flames rushed to the side and plunged into the river. The captain's wife was saved chiefly by her husband's exertions. Five others were also saved. The remains of three men, terribly burned, were found in the river; seven others are missing, and it is thought they have gone to the bottom.

The Howe a Total Wreck.

MADRID, Nov. 4.—The announcement of the Spanish Minister of Marine that H.M.S. Howe had been successfully floated off Pareiro reef is unfortunately incorrect A dispatch from Corunna reports that the vessel will be a total loss. The divers report that the keel is badly broken and that it is impossible to make repairs. A later dispatch to the London Standard from Madrid says the Howe has been sunk and is a total loss with all her guns and equipments, except so far as they may afterwards be saved by the divers.

Russia's Navy Improving.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 4.—The Russian ironclad cruiser Rurik, the largest vessel of the kind ever built in Russia, was launched yesterday in the presence of the Czar and Czarina. She is 435 feet long, 67 feet beam, 10,033 tons burden, and her engines are 13,250 indicated horsepower. It is believed that the Rurik will be able to make the voyage from Kronstadt to Vladivostock, a distance of 19,000 miles, without coaling on the way.

Her Character Vindicated.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The jury to-day in the case of Mrs. Oliver Leader, wife of Lieut. Leader, against Mrs. Eleanor Smyth, wife of Major-General Smyth of the British army, for damages for slander, in having charged Mrs. Leader with the theft of a brooch, gave a verdict for Mrs. Leader for £500 damages. The case carries with it an enormous sum in costs.

MERCIER ACQUITTED.

The Quebec Ex-Premier Treated Leniently by the Jury.

QUEBEC, Nov. 3.—The Criminal Court was packed this afternoon, as it was expected that a verdict would be rendered in the Mercier-Pacaud trial, but the spectators were doomed to disappointment. No verdict will be rendered until to-morrow afternoon because the counsel for the Crown and Judge Wurtele have not yet addressed the jury. Eloquent addresses were made this afternoon by Messrs. Greenshields, Fitzpatrick and Lemieux in behalf of both defendants. Mr. Greenshields was the first to speak, and began by saying: "Never before in the history of criminal justice in a British court has a man who has been one of the advisers of his Sovereign been called upon to answer for acts performed by him in connection with a department which he has administered. When a sovereign calls to his councils a subject, and that subject has been guilty of reprehensible acts that sovereign, recognizing the dignity of the office, has never before caused him to appear before a criminal court, but before the great court of the nation, the House of Parliament, to which he alone is responsible for his acts. In this instance the defendant whom I have the honor to represent, was the Prime Minister of this province, and a year ago he was in the enjoyment of public esteem. He was high in honor, high in office and high in dignity before the people of this country, but to-day he is asked to defend himself as an ordinary criminal before the criminal courts of his country. We were told by the Crown that this was not a political case and that the defense was called before this court as ordinary citizens to answer to ordinary charges and that there was no political animus, no political feeling, and that you should judge the case in the same way as you would judge an ordinary case before the courts."

Mr. Greenshields then reviewed the facts of the case at length, and was followed by Mr. Lemieux, who spoke in French for two hours.

QUEBEC, Nov. 4.—The trial of ex-Premier on the charge of appropriating certain sums of public money to his own use, ended to-day in a verdict of not guilty from the jury. There are others charges preferred against him, but they may not be taken up at this sitting of the court.

Captain Blackburn, of the Monserrat, while on his way up for a cargo of new V.C.Co.'s coal, discovered the Umatilla whistling buoy adrift. When he saw it, it was bearing two miles south by west ½ west of Tatoosh Island light house. The Monserrat will sail again in the morning.

Two quarts of ashes of the burned clothing was found and now comes the question how much clothing does it represent. Weinberg declares it amounts to a little over $1600, which is the sum of insurance.

Hypnotism Did It.

SAN FRANCISO, Nov. 4.—William Kitrick, of Oroville, committed suicide in the street this morning by cutting his throat with a large pocket knife. He was merrily hacking away when discovered by a policeman who requested him to stop it. The deceased was about 40 years of age. Among the articles found in his pockets was a card on which were scribbled the words "Good-bye, Annie, I have been hypnotized."

Long Live the Republic.

MADRID, Nov. 3.—Further signs of the popular discontent arising from the lukewarmness of the Government towards the Columbian celebration were manifest to-day. The Queen Regent Christina's refusal, at the last moment, to attend the celebration at Granada, when every preparation had been made for the event, caused, as was reported, very serious rioting. She had been expected to have been present to unveil the statue of Columbus, and when it became known that she was not coming, the indignation of the crowd knew no bounds. A rush was made for the stand which had been erected for the royal party, and it and the large stand for the public were quickly demolished. A number of handsome triumphal arches were next destroyed, and then the local custom offices were set on fire. There is a strong republican party in Granada, and when the fery "long live the republic!" was started, it was taken up by the crowd and alternating it with the cry of "down with the Government!" they proceeded to do other damage. The revolutionary attitude of the rioters made it necessary to call out the civic guard, who charged the men with drawn swords. Many were severely wounded before they could get away and some 30 or 40 were made prisoners and lodged in jail. There were no arms among the rioters, and no resistence was offered to the guard. The windows of the residences of the Conservative leaders in the neighborhood were broken. The Minister of War, the Minister of Public Works, and the Minister of Justice, who were about starting to take part in the celebration, have postponed their journey. Many of the municipal officers of Granada are republicans. As a result of the recent riots in Madrid, arising from a similar cause, their governor has resigned and the mayor is expected to resign.

The Briggs Trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The committee of prosecution which has charge of the proceedings against Prof. Briggs, and which is composed of Drs. G. W. F. Burch, Robert X. F. Samples, J. J. Lampe, Col. John J. McCook, and Prof. J. J. Stevenson, have about completed the arrangements for the forthcoming trial. It will open in the main audience room of the Scotch Presbyterian church, November 9th, and continue each afternoon, except Saturday and Sunday, until the evidence is all in and a decision rendered. The press and the public will be admitted, but should the spectators show any disposition to indulge in applause or dissent the galleries will be cleared, and the remainder of the proceedings take place in executive session. There will be two separate allegations in the charges against the now famous professor. It will be alleged has he has taught and is still teaching doctrines which conflict irreconcilably with and are contrary to the cardinal doctrine taught in the Holy Scriptures and contained in the standards of the Presbyterian church, viz: that the Scriptures of the Old and New Testiments are the the only infallible rule of faith and practice. It will also be insisted that the professor has been given to the teaching of doctrines concerning the character, state and sanctification of believers after death which conflict irreconcilably with the Holy Scriptures and the standards of the Presbyterian church, and are contrary thereto. The agitation over the alleged heresy of the learned professor has pervaded Presbyterian circles for a full year, and the outcome of the trial will be awaited with interest in circles of that denomination over the entire world.

The Irish Dynamiters.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—"I have it from the most trustworthy source that the cabinet's deliberations over the President's request for the release of Dr. Gallagher and other Irish-Americans who were engaged in dynamite plots, have so far come to naught," says the Herald's London correspondent, "and that a negative reply will be sent to the Charge d'Affaires within a few days. The only thing that saves the request from the ridicule of the press is the fact of its origin at so high a source as the State Department at Washington City, and there are even some papers bold enough to hint that the President's application was made at a time when it was certain to affect his political aspirations." The correspondent of the Times to-day, in referring to the matter, says: "Of course the State Department cannot afford to ignore the demands of the National League chief, nevertheless it is rather cool of President Harrison to ask to let dynamiters go at the request of their employers on the other side."

Made Him Fatigued.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 4.—Edward Carroll, Democratic candidate for Congress in the first district, last night sunt out a letter withdrawing from the contest. He had been assured of popular support, but the new party pursued the usual course of demanding everything and conceding nothing. Mr. Carroll's withdrawal will give the Republicans at least 15,000 greater majority.

TURNED THE HOSE ON THEM.

How the New President of Toronto University Dealt With Unruly Students.

Toronto World.]

Last week the second year men at Varsity, at a secret meeting, set a day on which the freshmen were to be "hustled" in regular old-time style; but a rumor of it reached the ears of the professors, and in consequence the freshmen were dismissed 15 minutes earlier than usual and thus succeeded in evading the trap which was to have been sprung upon them.

Another meeting was held by the sophomores, and this time the secret was so well kept that the unsuspecting freshmen filed out of the Latin prose lecture-room at noon yesterday and walked straight into the arms of the enemy, who, with the third and fourth year men, were lined up the full length of the main corridor three deep on each side, the first row on either hand being composed of sophomores, who, with the unrevenged wrongs of their freshman year still burning strong within their breasts, had vowed to even up on the new contingent.

The first man out of the class room was a little in advance of his fellows, and being off his guard, took a flying trip down the corridor in a rather undignified manner, and was shot, minus his collar and one cuff, straight into President Loudon's bosom. The President had suddenly appeared through the doorway at the end of the corridor, and this was the unceremonious way in which he was greeted by his students. He attempted to quell the disturbance by ordering an instant dispersal of the assemblage, but the boys either couldn't or wouldn't hear the order. "Litoria" was being sung by almost 500 lusty young voices, and amid shouts, cries and peals of laughter the "hustling" went merrily on, the boys being excited to the greatest efforts by the bevy of young lady students at the head of the staircase, who applauded each and every act of either side which appealed either to their sympathies or sense of the ludicrous.

But what was the President doing all this time? Surely he had not abandoned his post and fled to his sanctum? No: he had merely called in a couple of caretakers and with their assistance was fitting an inch-and-a-half nozzle on to the large coil of hose at the main entrance.

Before the students could realize just what was about to take place the wily President was upon them, and with a swish the water came hissing through the air. The foremost of the combatants could not stand fire, and ignominiously took flight, and all others were not long in following their doughty leader's example.

A few wished to stay, but a persuasive flirt of the nozzle induced them to also seek safety in flight. This episode effectually dampened the ardor of all, and though an attempt was made to renew the strife on the lawn and other portions of the grounds, especial care was taken not to become too pre-occupied in so doing, as a second visitation of the hose was not to be incurred at any price.

It was a most decisive victory for the President over the students, and its effect will be salutary, although he was "just too mean to spoil the fun."

The caretakers were busy for several hours removing the debris and collecting the hats, collars, cuffs, buttons, studs, neckties, etc., which marked the scene of this conflict, the story of which will be handed down for generations.

Objected to Being Taken.

CASPER, Wyo., Nov. 4.—Reports have just reached Casper of a fight between police and supposed horse thieves near the head of Prior river, in the extreme northern part of Fremont county, in this state. It is reported that the Fremont county police were after a man named Moore, who, some time ago shot a constable in the county of Lander. Moore knew of their approach and as they approached shot down three of the approaching party. The police were led by a party named Nand, who, with two deputies was killed.

"Until my boy was six years of age he was from birth a terrible sufferer from scrofulous humor. Sores would appear on him and spread until as Large as a Dollar and then discharge, followed by others, so that the larger part of his body was one mass of sores all the time, especially severe on his legs and back of his ears and on his head. We cannot tell how that poor boy suffered in all those years. Physicians did not effect a cure. At last I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla, as my druggist recommended it. In about two weeks the Sarsaparilla began to have effect. The sores commenced to heal up; the flesh began to look more natural and healthy. Then the scales came off and an over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles he was entirely free from sores, having only the scars to show where they had been. These have all disappeared. We are unable to express our thanks for the good

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3.—A Times-Democrat's City of Mexico special says: The announcement that the high military court of Mexico has confirmed the death sentence passed on Col. Hernandez by a court-martial held at Monterey several months ago, has created a stir in government, military and political circles. It was generally believed that Col. Hernandez would be acquitted. A petition is now being prepared, which will be presented to President Diaz, asking for executive clemency. It is believed the president will pardon the prisoner, as he is a personal friend, and served with him in the army many years. If the death sentence is carried out Col. Hernandez will be taken to Monterey to be shot.

FAUNSDALE, Alabama, Nov. 4.—Two children of Albert Williams, a boy and a girl, aged respectively, six and eight years, were left at home alone while the parents were picking cotton. The boy becoming angered at his sister deliberately pushed her into the fire then ran away. The child was burned almost to a crisp. Only a few days before the boy had flourished a loaded revolver with which he threatened to shoot his sister.

THE KOOTENAY COUNTRY.

Toad Mountain Operations—The Reclamation Work—Governmental Negligence.

From the Miner.]

Mrs. Goepel and Miss Bate left for the coast this morning. Both ladies have taken an active interest in church work and will be greatly missed.

The steamer Nelsonnow goes down to the wharf at Bonner's Ferry, a new channel in the river having been discovered which enables her to do so with safety.

Dr. E. C. Kilbourne has taken a new bond on the Lucky Jim, paying $2000 down. Dr. Kilbourne has also bonded a claim on Jackson Creek for $60,000.

A new strike of very rich looking gold rock has been found in the Salmon River country. To judge from the surface croppings, a large body of ore is present.

The telephone line between Nelson and Ainsworth has been thoroughly repaired, and all trees which might have fallen on the line have been cleared away.

D. J. Munn, of New Westminster, one of the Kaslo townsite owners, has been in the district for the past week. He ought to be pretty nearly tickled to death at the state in which he found Kaslo.

Owing to the falling of the water of the Columbia, the boats have been arriving most irregularly for the past fortnight or so, and we have got into the habit of never expecting the train to come in on time.

Favorable reports come down from the Lizzie C. The tunnel is now in 250 feet and is directly under the shaft. Indications are present that the lead is not far off. Some mineral is being taken out of the tunnel.

News of the consummation of the Silver King deal has not yet been received, but cannot now be long delayed. The last authentic news reported that Mr. Ramsay was seriously ill, and has transferred his interest in the property to an agent for the purpose of the sale.

The face of the Dandy tunnel is in good ore. Arrangements have been completed by which a concentrating plant will be put on the Dandy as soon as spring opens. With 1200 tons of ore on the dump and the facilities for working afforded by the development already done, the Dandy will become a big producer.

The record offices at New Denver and Ainsworth are still unprovided with fireproof. Is Mr. Fitzstubbs going to do anything to supply this want; or are things to drift along until there is a big fire, and then, the horse having been stolen, the door will be securely locked. There is altogether too much of the drift policy in the Government's administration of West Kootenay.

We understand that no move will be made in the direction of letting the contract for bringing the mail into Nelson by pack train until something definite is decided about the steam scow, which the C. & K. Steam Navigation Company propose putting on the Robson-Revelstoke route. If the authorities don't make up their minds soon as to what steps they mean to take in this matter, we shall run great risk of having our mail service in a very defective condition as soon as the water gets to be a foot or two lower than it now is.

In order to make the Lardeaux trail really useful it ought to be extended for a mile and a half, to the foot of the Upper Kootenay lake, where prospectors could take to the water for 12 miles, to the head of the lake. From this point a trail could be constructed along Duncan river to some place from which easy access could be had to any discoveries that may be, or have been, made in this district. There is good feed for pack animals all along this trail, and consequently freight rates ought to be moderate. At present this country is not easy of access, but the expenditure of a comparatively small sum of money could easily make it so.

Thursday was a day not without significance to the inhabitants of Nelson. It was on the 25th of October, 1888, that the first sale of lots in Nelson took place, and that the town received its name. Baker street lots were sold at that sale for $30 a lot. Corners and 50 foot lots brought more. The highest price given was $115. The sale took place amidst storm and snow which continued several days. The only buildings on the present site of the town were a shake house and John F. Ward's tent on the corner of Ward and Vernon streets. There were several log cabins on the water front, which are still standing and inhabited.

The successful stocking of the Goldendale and Democrat claims, on Toad Mountain, for one million dollars, shows that in spite of Slocan, Toad Mountain is not forgotten. The company will operate under the name of the Toad Mountain Mining Company and its headquarters will be in Spokane. Mr. Grover, president of the First National Bank in Spokane, is president of the company. As soon as the articles of incorporation are filed and the transfers recorded, the company will put a force of men to work to drive a tunnel on the Goldendale. The Goldendale has one of the largest surface showings on Toad Mountain. The ore is galena and grey copper. Its average value is not high, as on the surface the ledge is a good deal broken up, but fair samples yield 200 ounces in silver to the ton.

Are the certificates of improvement notices published in the B. C. Gazette in order that the applicants may have the pleasure of seeing their names in print and enjoy the privilege of paying $5 therefor? If not, we should be glad to know what useful object is attained by publishing these notices in the slipshod manner which at present obtains. On pages 1024-5 of the Gazette for October 15th are 15 certificates of improvement notices, and of these 11 give no internal evidence as to their whereabouts. This is a pretty serious matter and displays great carelessness on the part either of advertisers or of the Queen's printer. It is easy to imagine two claims of the same name, in districts far apart, being advertised at the same time, and it can readily be seen that inconvenience and confusion might easily arise in such a case. It is an easy matter, surely, to date the application from the district in which the claim lies, and so give it a "local habitation" as well as "a name."

Captain Fitzstubbs and Constable Miles have returned from the boundary with the Siwash who shot Skookum Pete some little time ago, and is now languishing in the Nelson "cooler" reflecting on the mutability of human affairs. It is, we understand, a clear case of justifiable homicide. The victim was the aggressor and the Indian who is awaiting trial preferred being the accused in a trial for manslaughter to being the subject of a coroner's jury.

Messrs. Perry, Gray & Davys' survey parties returned to Nelson from the Lardeau district on Saturday last, and the general opinion of the members of the party seems to be that the country which is drained by the Duncan and Lardeau rivers has a great mining future before it. Duncan River, it is said, is at present a nasty piece of water to travel on, but by cutting out the log jams, could be improved so as to be fairly navigable at low water. As things are at present, there are five portages in the 50 miles over which Mr. Hirsch travelled. The height of the water has prevented many prospectors from getting very far up the river, through loss of boats, provisions, etc. One prospector, Sullivan by name, lost his whole outfit. There is valuable farming land on the banks, land, too, which does not seem to be subject to overflow. Mr. Hirsch staked several claims during his trip, and brought some of the ore to Nelson to be assayed. He is extremely reticent, however, both as to the location of the discoveries and as to the result of the assay. We understand that one of the assays gives $40 gold to the ton, and that other samples give results smaller than this, but still very satisfactory, seeing that the rock was taken right across the ledge and was not picked out as being particularly good looking stuff.

Mr. Alexander has returned from the boundary where he was investigating the trouble between his company and the Indians. He found that the chiefs were very well disposed, and accused the young bucks of having made mischief. Some of the Indians also stated that they had been instigated to make trouble by some white squatters near the boundary. But for the truth of this Mr. Alexander does not vouch. He understands that the Indians have sworn on the cross that they will not obstruct the work any more. Mr. Alexander claims that his company's work will, when completed, reclaim 35,000 acres of the best land in the province. It is probable that a new and much larger dredger will be built this winter. Mr. Alexander expects to have the main dyke completed before the water rises in the spring, but whether this will prevent overflow into any portion of the land he cannot say. He does not think that any of the land will be finally reclaimed before this time next year, when the first section will be ready for the market. Questioned as to what it was going to cost per acre to reclaim the land, Mr. Alexander could give no answer. The work the company was at present engaged on, was, he said, very expensive. The delay caused by the Indians cost the company $100 a day.

A Night Wi' Burns.

That famous journal, the Scottish American of New York, speaks in the following encomiastical strain of the entertainment provided by Miss Howison in her excellent rendering of Burns' better known works: An audience notable for their social and intellectual position assembled in the Congregational church, for the purpose of hearing a lecture on Burns by Miss Howison, of Cincinnati, late of Perth, Scotland, so favorably known to our readers. Ex Governor Young, in introducing Miss Howison, spoke of her success as a lecturer, and concluded by saying that her views of the poet's life and writings were novel and impartial. Miss Howison has much in her favor—a fine presence, thoroughly self-possessed, and a well trained voice. For over an hour she captured the attention of her hearers. Her rendering of the poet's 'Man was made to mourn' was so full of pathos and feeling that many found the tears come unbidden; and in 'A man's a man for a' that' she evinced a hearty and sympathetic accord with the glorious sentiment which it immortalizes; so much so, indeed, that the audience could not resist applauding her to the echo." Miss Howison will be heard at Sir William Wallace Hall tomorrow evening. All lovers of Burns' works should not fail to attend.

Every medical practitioner attending or visiting any person who is suffering from smallpox, cholera, or any other disease of a malignant character dangerous to the public health, shall immediately give notice thereof to the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector, who shall thereupon take such steps as may be deemed necessary to prevent the spread of such disease.

Any officer of the Corporation may seize, and under the direction of the Medical Health Officer, the Mayor or the Sanitary Inspector, destroy any tainted or unwholesome meat, poultry, fish, or other article of food exposed or offered for sale.

PENALTY.

Every person guilty of an infraction of any of the provisions of this by-law shall, upon conviction thereof, in a summary manner, before the Police Magistrate or any two Justices of the Peace having jurisdiction in the City, forfeit and pay a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, and costs if ordered; and if such penalty, and costs if ordered, be not paid immediately or within such period as such Police Magistrate or Justices may appoint, the same may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the offender, or such offender may be imprisoned, with or without hard labor, for any term not exceeding three calendar months, unless such penalty, and costs if ordered, be sooner paid

CONTRACTORS AND PUBLIC.

There is a city by-law relating to the erection of buildings, which requires that contractors when converting part of a street to their own use shall provide a fence for the safety and a sidewalk for the convenience of the public. It seems that this by-law is a dead letter. At all events it is not enforced in the case of Messrs. Elford & Smith, the contractors who are putting up the building for the Hon. Theodore Davie on the corner of Government and Yates streets. Contractors are like other people in so far that they are ready to take every advantage they can get. But we should like to know why these men are allowed by the civic authorities to ignore the Building By-law and cheat the public out of their rights. The way in which they are allowed to elbow wayfarers into the mud is simply outrageous. Is the city engineer dead, or is he sleeping? Where are the sapient aldermen who compose the street committee? Do contractors possess a special license to violate city by-laws and put the public to inconvenience whenever it suits them? We should really like to see our aldermen and officials pass beyond the mossback, country-village stage. Let them pay a few visits to Vancouver and Westminster and learn something of city ways. We are quite satisfied that in neither one of those places would contractors be allowed to make ducks and drakes of a by-law and impudently encroach on the rights of the public as nearly all contractors are here. There would at least be an appeal to the police court first.

THE WRECK OF THE HOWE.

The sinking of the big war vessel Howe is one of those casualties which the British taxpayer may surely be forgiven for grumbling at, though his repeated grumblings do not seem to have much effect on the Admiralty authorities. It costs a very large sum of money to build such a ship as the Howe, whose tonnage was 10,300, with engines capable of developing 11,500 horse power. All that is likely to be recovered from the wreck by divers will not yield much consolation to the people who had to foot the bill for the building of the vessel. Very likely they will at once ask the question why the Howe should have been steaming into Ferrol harbor at the speed of seven knots an hour. So far the dispatches have not stated any special cause for going through a fog so fast in what must surely have been known as dangerous water. The harbor is an old one, in which there should be no rocks unknown to navigators. No doubt a court martial will be held on account of the occurrence, so that the public has some chance of learning where the blame lies. It would be altogether too presumptuous to give an opinion on that phase of the incident, but without going into the question of responsibility, it may be said that it will naturally strike any observer as rather odd that a big war vessel should be speeding into a harbor through a fog at the rate of seven knots. Other vessels of the British navy have come to grief through this same practice of steaming so fast in a fog when there was no special cause for haste, but the Admiralty still seems to tolerate, if it does not actually encourage the practice. It may be that the thought of the Howe lying on the bottom of the ocean will have the effect of putting some slight check on it.

STUPID OR PERVERSE.

The Colonist once more evades the point at issue in regard to the Government's treatment of the Slocan region. It cannot be so stupid that it fails to understand the matter, but we must admit that it is very successful in feigning stupidity. We have made it perfectly plain that the Government allowed the people who bought New Denver lots to purchase those lots in the belief that a road would be constructed between New Denver and Nakusp. If the Government allowed this knowing that it had not the power to build the road, it was guilty of such a trick as might have been expected from the worst sort of "land shark." If it was ignorant of its own powers, and only discovered its lack of authority some weeks after the sale, then it was guilty of inexcusable blundering. The Colonist yesterday was bold enough to say that the road "was not even thought of" at the time of the sale. This story it could hardly stick to the face of the remark made by one of its own correspondents before the day of the sale: "The Government may, as it (New Denver) is their own town, possibly build a wagon road, which it is hoped will mend matters and make it more accessible." To-day the organ changes the story slightly and says the Government was not asked to build the road before the New Denver sale took place. We do not believe that story; but if it were true it would not affect our contention that the Government acted either very stupidly or very meanly in allowing the New Denver purchasers to remain in the belief that the road was to be constructed right away. That the Goverement feels itself under an obligation is shown by this paragraph from the Nelson Miner:

Mr. Holman, the real estate agent at Nakusp, in a recent interview with the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, says Mr. Vernon promises that the first appropriation made by the provincial parliament will be one for a first-class wagon road from Nakusp to the mines.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The death of Mr. N. G. Bigelow very probably means to the Mowat Government the loss of a supporter in the Ontario Legislative Assembly. Toronto is a strongly Conservative city, and the election of Mr. Bigelow was the result of quarrelling and over-confidence among the Conservatives, not a love for the Government. It is not likely the Conservatives will give the Liberals the same opportunity of winning the next contest, though it is possible the fight will be a close one. There is a growing sentiment in favor of the Government among both the business men and workingmen of the capital. In any event Sir Oliver need not look on with disquietude, since he has a majority large enough to survive the loss of more than one supporter. He has the province, if not the capital city, at his back.

Occasionally a Conservative journal is forced by the logic of facts to admit the weakness of the Government's fiscal policy. The Brandon Mail, for instance, utters this complaint: "The Canadian Government must modify its tariff in certain lines of manufactures—notably agricultural implements and binding twine. The customs collections received from twine amount to but little to the Government, and the addition to prices in consequence of duties, whatever it is, falls on a few people. The same can be said of implements." The Mail might have gone further and pointed out that the same might be said of other articles the farmer finds necessary and must buy. Then the fisherman, the miner and the lumberman are harassed in the same way as the farmer by taxes which do not materially increase the revenue, but seriously burden their industries. No relief from such exaction is to be granted by the present Government, which has "no new policy to formulate," as Sir John Thompson said at Petrolia.

Some interesting statistics in regard to the Indian wheat crop of 1892 by the final Government report for the year. The total crop is put at 5,442,000 tons, or 203,168,000 bushels of 60 pounds. This marks it as the smallest crop harvested in any year since annual estimates were inaugurated in 1884. In the final report of last year the crop of 1891 was stated at 6,843,000 tons, or 255,434,667 bushels, but the present return changes the estimate for 1891 to 6,876,000 tons, or 256,704,000 bushels. On the basis of this revised estimate the crop of the present year shows a falling off from that of 1891 of 53,536,000 bushels or 21 per cent. The area is returned at 24,088,000 acres against the revised estimate of 26,576,000 acres harvested in 1891. The normal or average area under wheat is placed at 26,544,000 acres, showing a falling off of acreage in 1892 from the average of 2,456,000 acres. These figures indicate a yield per acre of 8.4 bushels for 1892, against 9.8 bushels last year and an average, calculated from the normal area and outturn as given, of 9.5 bushels.

Violation of Election Law.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The grand jury this morning handed up twenty indictments for violation of the election laws in the United States Supreme Court. Shortly after 1 o'clock Commissioner Geld issued 13 warrants for the arrest of the convicted men, and they were at once given to marshals for service. A number of arrests were made this morning for false registration, all the prisoners being remanded.

BROTHER PIONEERS.

Lieut.-Governor Nelson Remembered by His Old Comrades.

On the eve of his departure for a prolonged visit to England and southern Europe His Honor Lieut.-Governor Nelson was presented by the British Columbia pioneers with the following address:

PIONEER HALL,
VICTORIA, Oct. 29, 1892.

To His Honor Lieut.-Governor Hugh Nelson, Government House, Victoria:

HONORED SIR,—We, the undersigned, on behalf the officers and members of the B. C. Pioneer Society, cannot permit the occasion of your relinquishing the office of Lieutenant-Governor of the province (of which we are all proud to be pioneers) to pass without reflecting on the honor conferred on one of our members in being selected to hold that position, and expressing our congratulations to you on having so ably filled the highest, most honorable and important position during the most prosperous years in the history of the province.

We desire to wish you personally prosperity in accord with that which has attended our province and adopted home during Your Honor's administration of its affairs. And further, to wish both yourself and Mrs. Nelson future happiness, good health and safety in your contemplated travels; that your journey abroad may conduce to the utmost enjoyment of a well earned rest, and that you may return at an early date to renew the associations, which we, as pioneers, have always felt proud of.

Remaining, Honored Sir,
With much respect:

(Signed) Thomas Flewin, president; J. Clearihue, vice president; Allan Graham, acting treasurer; John J. Austin, secretary; R. Ridley, janitor; J. Blackbourne, G. Fairbrother, C. Booth, P. Steele, directors; C. E. Redfern, ex-president; L. E. Erb, J. Loewen, H. D. Helmcken, W. P. Saward, Thos. Earle, M.P., Geo. Thomson, J. Fannin.

His Honor responded in the following terms to this hearty expression of esteem:

GOVERNMENT HOUSE,
VICTORIA, Nov. 1, 1892.

My Dear Brother Pioneers:—

It was with feelings of the sincerest pleasure that I received the kind address you, as pioneers and representing pioneers, sent me yesterday.

You were among the first to extend the hand of welcome to me when I was called upon to assume the office of Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, and now, on my retirement, it is especially gratifying to learn from you that my course of action in that position meets with your approval.

It has been a matter of great satisfaction to me that during the last five years the province has prospered greatly, and I sincerely hope that this has only been the commencement of still greater prosperity in the future.

In offering you my warmest thanks for the address, I have also, on behalf of Mrs. Nelson and myself, to thank you for your kind wishes for our future welfare, and to state that we look forward to our return to the province with feelings of the greatest pleasure.

Believe me, brother pioneers,
Yours sincerely,
(Signed) HUGH NELSON.

Hamlet by Local Tragedians.

The patrons of the Victoria theatre will be treated to a very rare performance some night in the next few weeks. Mr. McDonald is arranging for the appearance of Mr. Marmaduke Wood, supported by Coburn Thompson and others, in the favorite popular tragedy, Hamlet, by one Shakespeare. The matter is not yet completely arranged, but the gentlemen mentioned have agreed to appear. "Ta-ra-ra boom-de-ay," the song which made Lottie Collins famous, will be given after the graveyard scene, with local hits introduced. Mr. Thompson is quite an eloquutionist, but Marmy knows nothing about the business. That is where the fun is expected to enter. The management is a little at a loss for an Ophelia, but will no doubt find some one to fill the part. A melancholy Dane speaking the richest of Cockney, is not the only attraction that the farce will afford. The piece will no doubt draw a crowded house.

Damages for the Plaintiffs.

OGDEN, Nov. 4.—In the district court yesterday the Southern Pacific lost a big damage suit, $14,000 being awarded against the company by the jury for the death of George Woods, a bridge builder. Woods was in the employ of the railway in 1890, and was killed in a freight wreck. The cause of the smash was a defective switch and a faulty flange on the engine. Sarah Woods, wife of the dead man, and her two children, brought suit, claiming $30,000 damages. The case has been appealed.

Old Enough to Vote.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Justice Ingraham in Supreme Court chambers yesterday decided that a man who was born on Nov. 9th, 1871, becomes of age at midnight on Nov. 8th, 1892, and as the law does not recognize fractions of a day is therefore entitled to vote at the coming election. This decision was made on the application of John B. Vandeze, who happens to be in just that fix and asked for a mandamus to compel the election inspectors to register him. Justice Ingraham granted the desired mandamus.

PROVINCIAL COURT.

Several Interesting Cases Came Up for Adjudication.

A number of cases were heard in the provincial police court to-day before Justices of the Peace Pearson and Shakespeare.

James Ownes, charged with trespass, was dismissed, as it was shown that he had a right to be where the alleged offense was committed.

Joe, a Jap, charged with the killing and stealing of sheep on Saturna Island, was given a hearing and committed for trial.

A. Johnson, arrested at Fort Ruppert for supplying liquor to Indians, was found guilty after a hearing and sentenced to two months in jail.

WILL THEY CALL?

A Rumor that the Empresses Will Hereafter Dock at the Outer Wharf.

For several days there has been a rumor around the city that the C. P. R. steamers were to stop at the outer wharf, both on the inward and outward trips. A TIMES representative to-day tried to find out if any official notification had been received regarding the proposed change. The C.P.R. officials had not received any notice regarding the change. Other gentlemen when asked if the steamers were to call, seemed confident that they would start calling, but they could not say when the change was to be made.

The dredger has been at work around the wharf for several months, and it is claimed that the channel is now deep enough for any boat on the coast. It would certainly be easier for the company and more convenient for the passengers if the Empresses came to the dock.

COUNTY COURT.

Some Light Thrown Upon the Doings of Real Estate Dealers.

For the past two days the court has been engaged in hearing a case, the decision on which will be awaited with interest by real estate men. It appears that some time ago Toller & Co., sold to two young men, who had been in the province but a short time, a few acres of land in Saanich, in consideration of $100 cash on hand and an undertaking to pay the balance in monthly installments of $10 for a period of four years. They were guaranteed a good title, but recently discovered that they could not get their title registered, the property being mortgaged. They brought action accordingly and, during the hearing, much interesting evidence came to light as to the ways of real estate men and the gullibility or rather the "unsophisticatedness" of the public in general. Mr. Justice Walkem found for the plaintiffs, but as abstruse points of law were raised by Mr. Crease for the plaintiffs and Mr. Fell for the defendants, the full decision will not be given until the remaining cases in County Court shall have been disposed of.

THE VICTORIA TURF CLUB.

That Will be the Name of the Amalgamated Turf Clubs.

Mr. R. P. Rithet presided at a largely attended meeting of the Victoria Jockey club held last evening in the city hall. The object of the meeting was to discuss the offer recently made by the Mount Tolmie Turf association, looking to an arrangement for the amalgamation of the interests of the two clubs.

The tenor of that offer was that if the Victoria Jockey club would subscribe a sum of $8,000 to the new institution, the latter would assume the liabilities of the former, and grant to the combined institution what is essential to any race association, its own home free of encumbrances. This was appreciated by the Victoria Jockey club as a whole, and, as they were about to suffer the pains of eviction from their old home, the offer of the new club came just in time.

The matter was fully discussed at last evening's meeting, and considered in all its details, those present being practically unanimously in favor of the new project. After considerable inquiry into the question a definite arrangement was arrived at in the appointment of a committee, composed of Messrs. W. Dalby, W. Chambers and D. R. Ker, to confer with the new club for the purpose of arranging terms of amalgamation. This was the effect of a statement that the assets of the V.J.C. were a little more than estimated.

It was also suggested by the honorary president of the new club, Mr. Rithet, that the name be changed to the "Victoria Turf Club," which was acquiesced in, and it is more than likely now that arrangements will be pushed so as to have the spring meeting on the new track.

In His Right Mind.

The judgment debtor who was locked up for 24 hours for contempt in refusing to answer a question put to him by the judge, was brought to court at 12 to-day "clothed and his right mind." When placed in the witness box he obligingly answered the questions which yesterday he declined to answer and told the court the money was deposited with Garesche, Green & Co. The court pointed out to the witness how fortunate he was that he had not been committed for 40 days, the penalty which the court might have imposed, and told him in plain words that he should have more sense than to act as he did. Meanwhile he was not released from custody, but was given permission to accompany the sheriff to the bank and get the money, after which the court would see what further would be done in the matter.

In Chambers.

(Before Hon. Mr. Justice Crease.)

Lue Chung vs. Chang Hing—Application on the part of the defendant for an order to set aside an order granted by the Chief Justice and the writ of capias issued herein, and to discharge the defendant from custody. Case adjourned, and to be brought up on notice.

From Northern Ports.

The steamer Barbara Boscowitz arrived in from the north to-day. She brought down a big freight and a small list of passengers. She called at the outer wharf to discharge the salmon which she had on board, and will come inside to-night or to-morrow.

Both Dismissed.

In the police court David Cragie, charged with vagrancy, was dismissed. Cragie proved by witnesses that he had been working as a longshoreman. Sing Kee, charged with leaving cordwood on the sidewalk was also dismissed. The Celestial proved that he was within the regulations.

Earth to Earth.

The funeral of the late John McDonald, of Victoria West, took place yesterday afternoon from the family residence, 20 Front street. Rev. D. McRae officiated. The pallbearers were: A. McDonald, Colin Campbell, Angus McKay, Alexander Graham, C. McLeod and A. Pelling.

For San Francisco.

The steamer City of Puebla, Captain Debney, sailed for San Francisco this morning with the following cabin passengers from this port: R. J. Dickson, F. W. Betley, John McAllister, wife and child, Dr. Treat, D. Atwater, John Roper, Miss A. Roper, Jas. Molinary and wife and Mrs. H. Findley.

End of an Erring Life.

The last act of the Lombard tragedy was enacted at Seattle yesterday, when the remains of the unfortunate woman were interred in Lake View cemetery. It now appears that Mrs. Nellie Lombard shot herself when her husband charged her with being unfaithful, a charge that was evidently true.

Lots of Freight.

The steamer Yosemite did not leave for New Westminster until 10 this morning having been detained discharging and loading freight. She brought a big load of hay and grain down from the Fraser yesterday and the crew was kept busy all night discharging it. Then she had a big load to take back.

A Coming Event.

The young ladies of the Reformed Episcopal church will hold a bazaar on the 1st of December in Philharmonic Hall, for which preparations have been commenced. A lunch will be served between 12 and 2 o'clock and in the evening tableaux will be presented. It will, in its preparation and presentation, be the surprise of the year.

They Have to Wade.

The junction of Belleville and Menzies streets is in a terrible condition, and the members of the James Bay Athletic club have to fairly wade through the mud to reach their club house. If the city street cleaners would pay the point a visit they would confer a great favor on the club members and others who use the crossing.

An Actress of Power.

Jeffreys Lewis is sure of getting a grand reception when she appears on the stage here Monday night in Forget Me Not. No one can forget the power she used to possess and exert on her audiences, and what a wonderful favorite she is, and she has now come to us again to assert her old position. "La Belle Russe" will be presented on Tuesday evening, with Miss Lewis as Geraldine.

Overcrowded Cabins.

Sanitary Officer Bailey is still at work inspecting the Chinatown cabins. He has already inspected 171 cabins and left orders with the owners as to how many Chinamen were to live in the cabins. In some cabins where there was not room for one man to sleep several were crowded. The owners will be supplied with certificates stating how many persons can live in each cabin, and each time the rule is broken the owner will be held responsible.

As Well Starve on Land.

It is reported that the master of the Bankburn was in town last night. His mission was to secure his old crew for his vessel. The Bankburn lies at Port Blakeley unable to secure a crew. The British counsul at Port Townsend has been furnished with the necessary papers to libel the vessel. It that case she may not be able to leave for Australia so quickly. One of the old crew for the Bankburn said that he would rather starve in Victoria than return to the Bankburn.

The Catholic Bazaar.

The bazaar at the old Catholic church will close this evening, when the different articles will be presented to their owners or otherwise disposed of. The hall will open at 8 and close about 10. No admission will be charged. The receipts yesterday were over $600, and as there was no expense incurred to speak of, the ladies will clear something over $1000. Considerable interest is being taken in the contest for the cane offered to the most popular paper. The vote at close last evening stood, Colonist, 215; TIMES, 184. The balloting will cease at 10 to-night. A really excellent musical programme was rendered last evening and another will be given to-night. There will be no admission fee charged this evening.

Alaskana.

This work on "Alaska Legends" is the first one of its style yet published which deals exclusively with the legends, ethnology, customs and scenery of Alaska. Although the rhythm is in conformity with that of "Hiawatha" and "The Kalevala," this books claims distinction in that each chapter is complete in itself, no one depending upon another for either subject or conclusion. The descriptions of scenery are taken from the author's note-book, which was his constant companion while travelling in the territory, therefore their reality is assured. The writer, being a physician, has given considerable care and study to the "Medicine Men," or "Shamans," their peculiar education, strange practices, ostentatious manners, mode of collecting fees, their death and burial, all of which is interesting, and some parts are startling in their intense realism.

His faithful adherence to truth in recounting the customs of the people gives glimpses of them in very vivid light, and must awaken the sympathy of those who pause to think of the heathen-like darkness which instituted such dreadful practices.

The illustrations are few, but their exquisite beauty lends a great charm to the book, which is beautifully bound in cloth, with gilded edges. The illustrations are taken direct from photographs. Porter & Coates, publishers, Philadelphia.

TO LOCATE THE LINE.

Wellington to Duncan's Bay—Col. Nevins, C.E., of Seattle, to Have Charge.

The engineers who are to locate the line of the Canada Western Railway from Wellington to Duluth on Duncan's Bay will take the field immediately. The work is to be directed by Col. Richard Nevins, jr., C.E., of Seattle, and the line from Duluth to Comox will be located first. A. S. Going, C.E., with a party, will begin the preliminary work immediately, working under the direction of Col. Nevins. He will leave in the morning on the steamer Danube for Duncan's Bay, and will be joined at Comox in a few days by Col. Nevins. They will push the work before them to an early completion.

Mr. F. P. Blackman furnished the above information to a TIMES man this morning. Said he in addition: "This work is being done under instructions from Mr. Bakeman, and it is our intention to hurry it through. The instructions direct a survey from Duluth to Wellington, but the section from Duluth to Comox will be attended to first. The right-of-way matters, which of course come on the heels of the locating of the line, will be attended to by myself and Messrs. Bodwell & Irving, the solicitors. Col. Nevins has been engaged to conduct the work. He is not here yet, but will be in a day or so. Mr. Going has had a consultation with him, however, and will, as stated before, begin immediately on the preliminary work. The locating of the line with the obtaining of the right of way leaves nothing but the letting of contracts for clearing and construction still to be done."

COMFORTING GRANDMA.

Grandma sat in her old arm-chair,
Our baby on her knee;
Three-score-and-ten were grandma's years,
Sweet Baby Bell's were three.

The baby's tongue was chattering
As fast as it could go,
Of things she meant to have and do
When older she should grow.

"Ned says I's half-past free," she cried,
And tossed her yellow curls,
"And when I'se ten I'll be as bid
As a'l ve dreat bid dirls!"

Then grandma's eyes grew sad and dim;
"Dear pet, when you are ten
I'll be so old I scarce can walk,
Oh! what will I do then?"

O'er baby's face the shadow fell
Of wondering, troubled thought;
But soon she brightened; she had found
The comfort that she sought:

"Why dram'ma, don't oo fink," she cried,
With baby logic deep,
"Vat when oo can't walk any more Oo'd better learn to creep."

TO SETTLE A QUARREL.

Story of a Distracted Lover Hoping for Happy Results.

The train was late and the engineer was evidently trying to make up time.

Ronald McAllister turned his face for the twentieth time to the darkened pane by his side and stared into the blackness. Now and then the shadowy form of some object showed for a moment as the car whirled along over the rails, and an occasional house dotted the gloom with its cheery lights.

But, if the truth be told, Ronald's mind was not occupied by these fleeting visions of the outer world. The glass acted as a mirror, and he could look as long and eagerly as he liked at the reflection of a dainty figure in an opposite seat.

Rather grave eyes, a saucy nose, a sweet, tired mouth, rebellious whisps of soft brown hair straying down under a stylish but plain hat; a slight, pretty figure in a simple brown traveling suit, with a weary droop that appealed to the strong young fellow and made him rebel fiercely against the social conventionalities which rose like an icy barrier between the two travelers—this is what McAllister saw in the glass.

He had been able to perform one or two slight services for the girl—had raised her window, and brought a glass of water; had heard her gentle "Thank you, sir; you are very kind;" and had caught sight of her ticket, thus learning that her destination was only one station beyond his home, to which he was returning after a hard business trip.

Their eyes had met so frequently, after this, that she had flushed, and he had been ashamed to look in her direction, lest she should think him a boor, anxious to scrape a "railway acquaintance" with the first pretty girl he met.

The tired head under the brown hat dropped until it rested on the back of the seat, where it swayed helplessly.

The train rushed onward through the night faster and faster, until the car fairly rocked as it flew around curves and over resounding bridges.

"Must get into the siding at Mooreville before No. 10 freight comes in," Ronald heard the conductor say to the brakeman as he passed out of the car.

Faster—faster. Ronald idly counted the rails and glanced at the second hand of his watch. Could it be possible? Forty-five miles an hour!

Now, fifty; and look—sixty—a mile a minute!

The tired girl could not rest in her cramped position, and, raising her head, glanced at Ronald with a quivering ghost of a smile.

He started to his feet, was in the aisle moving toward her, when—crash!

An uproar of shrieks and frightful cries, a rending of solid walls and beams, a dizzying, swaying lurch, a fierce hiss of steam—then absolute rest from motion.

Ronald raised his hand and pushed away something which was lying on his face and smothering him in the darkness. It was the warm, lifeless body of a man who a moment before had been telling a funny story to a comrade in the smoking-car, thirty feet away.

The smoker and passenger were one car now. In railroad parlance they had "telescoped."

As if in a dream McAllister raised himself up, groaned a little over a bruised ankle or something of the kind, and slowly made his way, limping, out of the wreck.

A man near by raised a lantern.

"Good for you, "he said, in a husky tone. "X ve got one of them out already, haven't you?"

And Ronald looked down, and, coming gradually to his senses, realized that he was bearing something in his arms—something warm and human—a living woman.

The light of the lantern fell on her face and her brown dress. Yes, he was not mistaken. Out of that awful chaos, which was even now ringing with the shrieks of the wounded and dying, he had brought her.

He looked down into her face.

"Thank God!" he said. Then added reverently: "He has given her to me."

"Very well, sir; if that is the way in which you regard my happiness you can leave me—"

"And never return? I'll do so!"

Ronald McAllister and Ruth Jarvis glared at each other across the little marble-topped table and uttered these stinging words, their cheeks burning and eyes sparkling with anger, just eight months after they had met on that fearful night when No. 10 freight and the "Night Owl" express had collided on the S. P. & C. railroad.

It was but a slight matter, the beginning of this quarrel—a hasty word about a partner in a dance, a bit of childish jealousy, angry tones, harsh injunctions, bitter retorts, and there they stood, engaged to be married on the next New Year's day, but drifting leagues apart every moment.

It was a sultry July evening, and when Ronald dashed out of the house the northern sky showed no stars, only lightning flashes cutting with jagged rashes through heavy piles of cloud that were mounting rapidly.

"Never—never!" he muttered, as he strode along and bared his hot brow to the pelting drops of rain.

"Never!" she said, sadly, as she listened to his retreating footsteps. "I was disappointed in him. We can never be united again."

And the wind blew and beat upon that house.

Ruth Jarvis felt that her heart was breaking, not because her lover was gone, but because she felt that she ought not long for his return. He was unworthy of her love.

The sultry days of summer crept slowly by. Autumn breathed upon the landscape, like the fair daughter of Rappacini in Hawthorne's tale, and every living thing withered and died.

Winter buried its dead in deep snow and sang requiems of the northland over the white mounds.

Ronald McAllister went wearily to and from his work, yearning for one word from Ruth, the woman he had loved and wounded so grievously.

He dared not write to her, nor even look at her as they met in the street.

He had no trusty friend who could plead for him. How could he reach her?

One day as he was passing a news-stand he saw the little figure he knew so well standing at the counter. She was buying a paper, the heading of which he recognized as one of the leading journals of the city.

A thought flashed into his heart and burned there like a star of hope.

He hurried home, seized pen and paper and wrote rapidly and unceasingly till daylight crept in, gray and wan, at his window.

On his way down-town he dropped a thick package of manuscript into the letter-box.

What days of torturing anxiety followed. At last it came—the envelope bearing the imprint of the periodical. He tore it open and read:

"OFFICE OF THE COURIER—Dear Sir: Your story entitled 'Ruth's Lover' is accepted, and will be published in our issue of December 28. Inclosed please find check in payment for same."

On the morning of December 28 Ronald stood shivering at the corner opposite the news-stand. He had remained there several hours watching for her. The paper was just out containing his story. Would she buy it and read it? It was signed by an assumed name, but she surely would—ah, she is coming.

She enters the little store, purchases the paper—his paper—and turns to go out, glancing idly down its columns.

He can see her plainly in the brilliantly lighted interior of the store. She is about to put the paper in her sachel when something near the bottom of the page catches her eye. She reads it eagerly.

The newsman stares, but she does not heed him. Ronald can restrain himself no longer, but draws near, trembling with hope and fear.

In that sketch, hastily scribbled at midnight, he has told her story and his own, has portrayed the anguish of the remorseful lover, his penitence, his longing for reconciliation.

She glances up; her eyes are dewy with tears.

What face is that so near? It is his!

"Ronald!"

"Ruth—darling! Forgive me!"

And, although the notice was rather sudden, the wedding did take place on that bright New Year's day, after all.

ENVOI.

Reader, have you divined? This is my own story; this is my own paper; I am Ruth's lover. Will she see this and forgive me?—Willis Boyd Allen, in Boston Courier.

Fresh Yeast.

We are pleased to tell the inhabitants of Victoria that we have just received a loaf of bread of splendid texture and sweetness, baked in the oven of an ordinary kitchen range, made with Stannard's Compressed Yeast, which is made in Victoria and will supply a long felt want. There has not been until now any yeast on this market that is always certain and easily and quickly used. Stannard's Compressed Yeast comprises each of these qualifications; it has also the advantage over any other compressed yeast that while they (when used in excess) impart an unpleasant flavor to the bread, the larger the proportion of Stannard's Compressed Yeast that is used in a loaf the sweeter it becomes. It is supplied to the grocers fresh daily and so that the public may always know that it is fresh the label upon it is stamped with the date upon which it is made. Then we are told and in belief upon good authority that it is impossible to spoil a batch of bread if the directions are followed that are printed upon the label. We know it is already used by some of the best families here and by at least one of the bakers, therefore we shall expect to see this new industry flourish amongst us. Ask your grocer for it; he has it for sale. m-w-f

The Monetary Times.

In addition to his local newspaper, a business man, to keep up with the times, should regularly read some reliable business paper. One that is devoted to trade in general must, we think, prove the most valuable to the merchant or manufacturer who aims to be well informed. Such a journal is the Toronto Monetary Times, the handsome special fall edition of which is just to hand. Between its artistically designed covers in brown and gold, the reader will find a fair sample of the ground that is covered in each weekly issue. From the contents it is not difficult to see how this journal, for the past 25 years, has been universally accorded the leading place.

NELSON AND THE RAILWAY.

Probable Effects of the Building of the Fort Sheppard Road.

From the Nelson Miner.]

Mr. Johnstone, the genial freight agent of the Great Northern, dropped into the office on Wednesday, and we had a talk about Nelson's prospects. We asked Mr. Johnstone whether the Kootenay river could be kept open all winter. "It would require a boat which would cost $25,000 to build. If the Great Northern sees next year that business will warrant it, it may go to the expense, but hardly if the Nelson & Fort Sheppard be built."

"Do you think the Nelson & Fort Sheppard will be built?"

"I think there is no doubt about it; this time next year you will have a through line to Spokane. The Spokane & Northern is doing a nice business over their line to Northport; it is run at small cost and pays very well. Sixty miles additional line to tap a country like this is not a very great undertaking."

"How will the Nelson & Fort Sheppard affect the Great Northern?"

"It will give us through communication all the year round with the lake country by way of Spokane from eastern centers. All we will have to do will be to carry goods a hundred miles farther than Bonner's Ferry and take less money for them."

"Do you think the C.P.R. is liable to acquire control of the Spokane & Northern?"

"I hardly think so. The only way in which they could do so would be to pay Mr. Corbin, who is practical owner of the road, a sum down for his property. And it will be such a good connection for them apart from this that I don't think it will be worth their while to do so."

"What effect is the building of this railway going to have on Nelson?"

"It is bound to make Nelson the center and distributing point for the whole lake country. All you will have to do then is to keep the outlet open during the winter, and you are fixed. If the Silver King mine opens up at the same time as the Nelson & Fort Sheppard comes in, you will have a town here which will double discount any other town in West Kootenay."

DETRIMENTAL TO PUBLIC COMFORT.

TO THE EDITOR:—How long the scandalous condition of affairs at the Davie building is to be allowed to continue is something the general public would like to know. The spot becomes worse every day. The contractors are pursuing a "public be damned" policy and don't propose to spend one cent to give the public a chance to get past the building they are erecting. The wooden stolidity with which they have ignored every appeal to give the pubic fair play proves this. Until they are forced to put down a decent walk around their heaps of building material; forced to straiten the limits of their outrageous trespass upon the streets, and forced to understand that they are not running this town, the public must suffer.

Can Do Everything but Talk.

This is what the Tacoma Ledger says about Prof. Norris's dog show, which is to hold the boards at the Victoria theatre to-morrow afternoon at 2:30 and evening at 8. "The dog show is a corker—no, a barker. It is the best thing of the kind that ever struck this city. The audience was in an unbroken roar of laughter from the time the curtain rose until the last dog in the orchestra of intelligent canines barked good night. Truly, it is wonderful how much a dog can be taught, and so thoroughly do they enter into the spirit of the performance that the only additional mark of intelligence they can impart to their manœuvres is conversation. They seem to be on the very point of breaking out into dialogue. Prof. Norris had the pets on chairs arranged in a sort of a semi-circle, and if she purps that make life a burden in this city would take a tumble to themselves and behave just a little like those canines did last night, no one would ever think of proposing a dog tax. They rolled barrels climbed and descended ladders, turned somersaults and walked ropes and did all manner of unexpected tricks to the immense diversion of the audience. One remarkably clever dog, called the clown, because of his imitation of the preposterous ways of the chief joker in a circus, fires a revolver and never bats his eyes nor cracks a smile. A fine Scotch collie, Teddie, performs a difficult cult in climbing two ladders at once. In recognition of his versatility he was given a beautiful wreath of flowers by a devoted admirer of dogs.

A GREAT UNIVERSITY.

A Discovery Made Within Its Walls.

The great Harvard University is to the United States what Oxford and Cambridge are to England, or the McGill University to Canada. The medical faculty of Harvard stands high on this continent, and scores of the most eminent physicians in the United States have graduated from this renowned college.

The medical faculty of this famed university has given to Americans and Canadians the most wonderful remedy for the cure of coughs, hoarseness, sore throat, croup, and all affections arising from sudden colds, that the world has ever seen.

This precious preparation is known as Harvard Bronchial Syrup; and, during the past two or three years has achieved greater success in Canada, than any other remedy now before the public.

We have seen the almost magical effects of Harvard Bronchial Syrup, and can affirm that it does the good work with a speed and certainty that amazes and pleases the sufferer.

A twenty-five cent bottle works wonders. It will instantly loosen the worst cough, clear the throat and restore the lost voice. It is pleasing to the taste, and especially valuable for the young, who dislike nauseating remedies.

THE OAK.

M'LEAN AGAIN BEATEN.

The Indian Tamarane defeated Alex. McLean in a canoe race for the second time this afternoon. Over a thousand spectators gathered on the Railway bridge. The excitement was intense. McLean had many backers and money was freely exchanged. They got away evenly and just before reaching the Railway bridge McLean had forged ahead. The Indian regained first position before another hundred yards was made, and "hugged" the east shore keeping the lead till they were hidden from sight by the gathering mist. On the return the Indian was seen. McLean was not visible. The spectators were surprised to see him coolly seated in a steam launch which followed the Indian.

HARE AND HOUNDS.

There will be a paper chase from Stadacona to-morrow afternoon, the start to take place punctually at 2:30. The hares will get a good half-hour's grace and there will be a splendid time for all participating.

A Ship Captain's Strange Dream.

In the course of an interview with the representative of a Newcastle paper, Capt. John Cracknell, the commodore of the Tyne, told the following story of a dream: "Sailors are accredited with being the most superstitious community it is possible to come across. Well, I suppose they are, and, though I don't reckon I'm much of a believer in the supernatural. I'd like just to relate a little yarn of what befel me some years ago. I was commanding the Grenadier in 1883, and on September 2nd we were caught in a terrible heavy gale. I had been up on the bridge, full of anxiety, all day and all night, and when next morning broke I went to lie down on the couch in my chart room for a little spell of rest. I fell asleep almost immediately and had a dream. I dreamt that I saw a steamer laboring in a fearful sea, and whilst I looked I recognized her as a vessel named the Inchultha, which was commanded by my eldest son George, whose figure I could distinctly make out, swathed in oil-skins, upon the bridge. The vessel was being cruelly knocked about by the surges, and I held my breath in my sleep as I watched her. Suddenly a towering billow came rushing down upon her, and swept like an avalanche of foam over her stern. She staggered like a wounded deer, and before she could right herself a second wave, heavier than the first, careered wildly over her. I saw her dark outline lingering a moment amid the boiling yeast, then her funnel and masts settled out of sight, and she had vanished from off the raging waters. I awoke with a start, and, rushing up on the bridge, cried to the mate, 'My boy is drowned! My boy is drowned!' And from that day to this the vessel has been never more heard of."

A Few Foolish Things.

It's a very foolish thing for a young man to think he does himself credit by hanging round theatre doors, smoking bad cigars, and paying for expensive oyster suppers in order to be called "liberal" by a clique of youths as soft in the brain as himself.

It's very foolish for a lady to be annoyed because gentlemen do not always give her the best half of the street and the nicest seat in the omnibus.

It's very foolish for an unfledged clerk to think he must buy extravagant gloves and cravats for every festive occasion, because Jones, whose father is worth thirty thousand, does so.

It's very foolish for a girl to stay away from a party because she has worn all her dresses, and can't have a new one.

It's very foolish for a man to be extra fastidious about rose-water, diamond finger rings, and scented pocket handkerchiefs, and then set society at defiance with his snuff box and cigar-case.

It's very foolish for an old bachlor to attempt to darn his own stockings without a steel thimble and a good stock of patience, or to venture where there are a dozen pretty girls.
